

Canadian Results from EMIS 2017

EMIS-2017 (European Men-who-have-sex-with-men Internet Survey) was an online survey for gay, bisexual, and other men who have sex with men (gbMSM) living in European countries and a few other countries, including Canada. Participants had to identify as a man and be sexually attracted to, and/or ever have had sex with men. The survey took place from October 2017 to January 2018. 5,165 Canadian participants were included in these analyses.

Who Participated?

- gbMSM from every province and territory

Sexual identity

79.3%
Born in Canada

2.4%
identified as transmen

High levels of experienced stigma and discrimination

Mental health problems

STBBI diagnoses

PrEP use and sexual practices

Any condomless anal sex with a casual partner (In year prior to survey)

Substance Use (Ever)

Acknowledgements

EMIS 2017 was carried out by Sigma Research (London). It was funded by the Health Programme (2014-2020) of the European Union. Canadian participation was funded by the Public Health Agency of Canada. For more information, look for our full length report in CCDR titled: Canadian results from the European Men-who-have-sex-with-men Internet Survey.

Public Health Agency of Canada

Agence de la santé publique du Canada

Canada